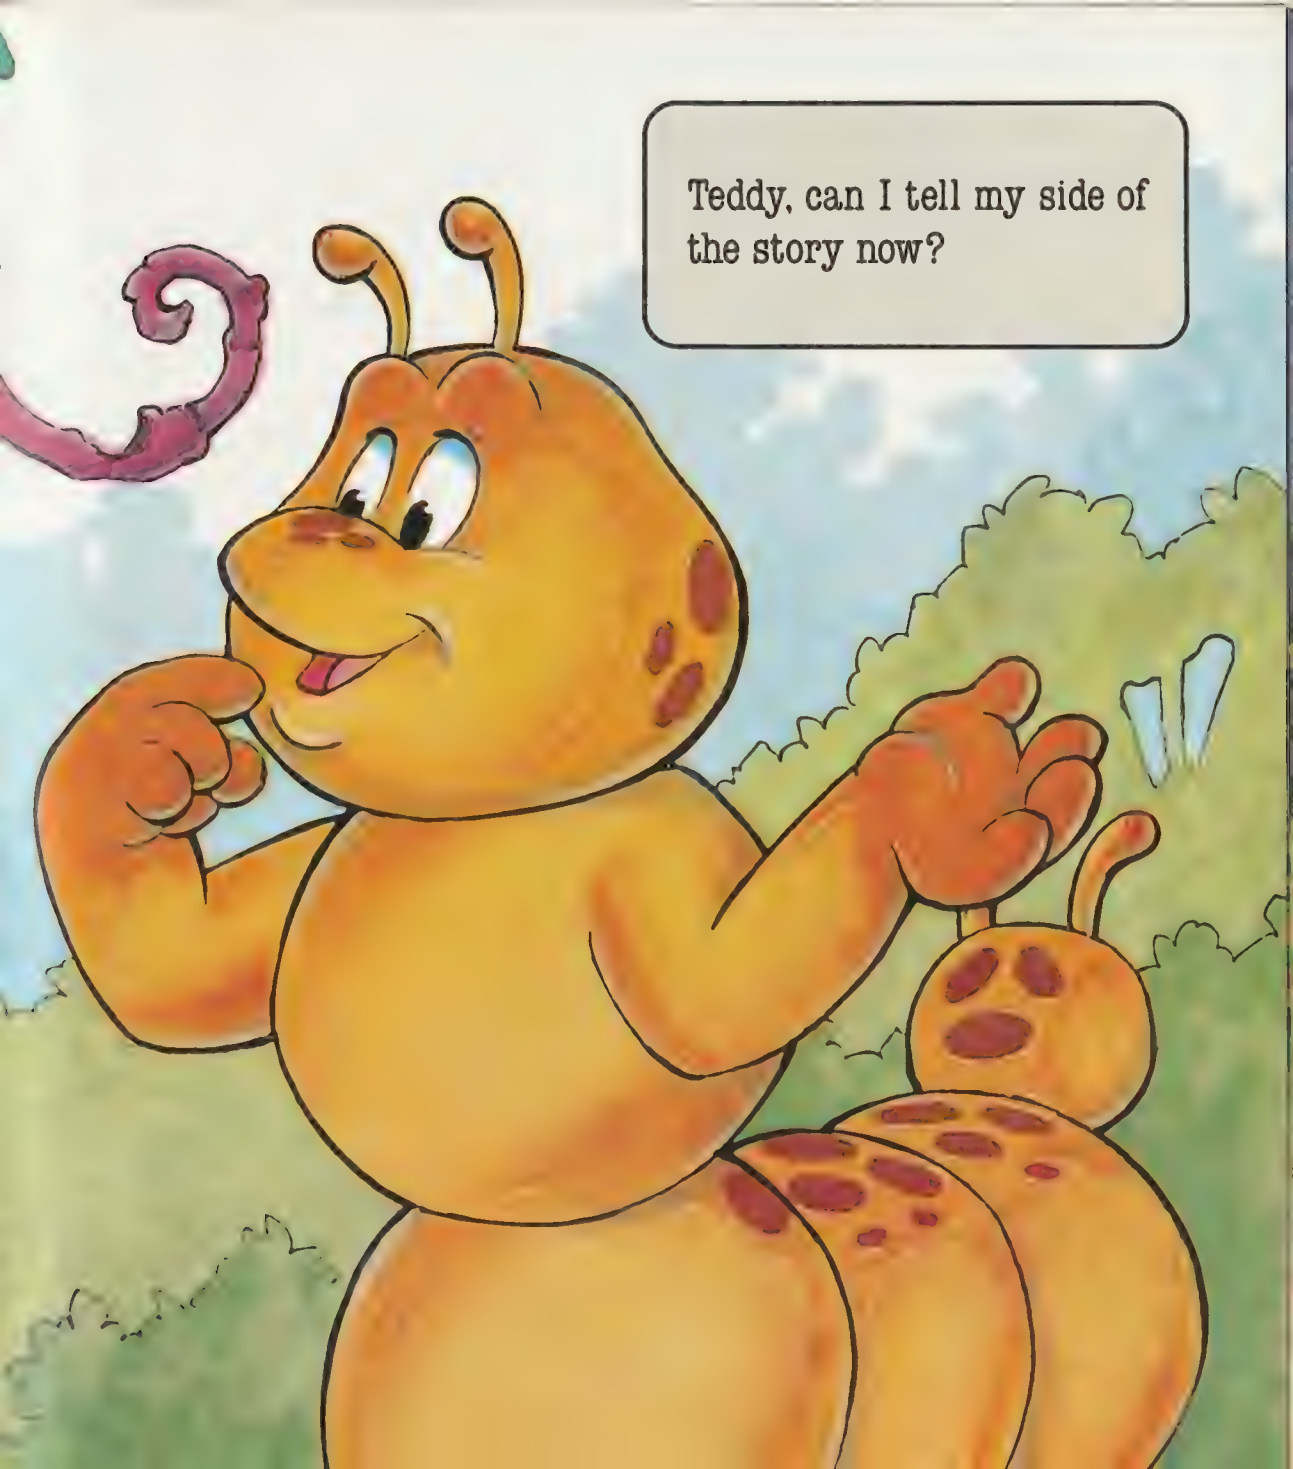
Why are we arguing like this?

My family lived in a little cottage.

You just dig a hole this deep and put a potato in it.

Something had dug up all the potatoes I had planted the day before.



Teddy, can I tell my side of the story now?

I was up that night seeing if I could find any more of those wonderful little roots.

My mother helped me fix up a special surprise for the potato thief.

I think we caught the potato thief.

I didn't know I was taking something that belonged to someone else.

Grubby helped me plant the potatoes.

And they pop right up out of the ground
to find the morning sun.

Grubby and I had fun watching the potatoes and other vegetables sprout up out of the ground.
